

Are you wanting to develop your butchery skills?

At Linden Foods we are offering a structured learning and development program that will equip new and existing employees with essential skills enabling them to move into areas that require more butchery expertise.

What we will offer through the program:

- Bespoke practical learning modules that will cover key butchery skills
- Training on vital pieces of equipment
- An overview that will help you to understand and recognise beef cuts
- Blended learning approach
- One on one support

Requirements:

- A keen interest in developing butchery skills
- Previous experience is not essential as full training will be given
- Flexibility to work in different areas of the business when requested
- Flexible approach to working hours is essential including evenings and weekends as required
- Ability to read, write and speak the English language

Application forms are available from the HR department or by email to hr@lindenfoods.com
